SDG17: PARTNERSHIPS FOR THE GOALS

The World Islamic Sciences and Education University continues to contribute through the board of trustees working in the government in order to achieve the objectives of the SDGs by establishing cooperation relationships, either directly or indirectly, at the national level, local level, and with various non-governmental organizations (NGOs).

The World Islamic Sciences and Education University

attended a meeting that brings together university presidents with the Times representatives in Jordan and negotiate different issues about SDGs. Additionally, the university continues to review comparative studies of the participation of international universities in tackling SDG classifications and compares their performance with the performance of our university in this regard.
